Also, if folks could please let me know if they've received this/are checking e-mails, in the event that OCIR does indeed need a response this weekend. Thank you.

Diane: this is what I was just calling about. Diane, OSWER and CRFLO: the attached letter is to EPA and CDC, asking for the two agencies to work together to study long-term health risks to humans, pets and livestock associated with the spill. The Senator wants info on who has jurisdiction, how the study will get done, what portion each will do, etc. I know the region already has a risk assessor (Dawn Ioven?) And OSC out there already, and I thought I'd seen that ATSDR was also already activated.

in case we have any contracting or other issues. I gather we should work up a response to the questions, but don't now know the deadline, which on the emails below suggest the deadline was last evening. I have emailed Laura Vaught to find out if an answer was indeed due last evening (Lek, do you know the time frame?). I can compile if folks have info in bits and pieces. Thanks all!!

Hi, Brenda. An email below says that OCIR is looking for a read tonight. Wondering if you heard back or think we should be calling folk. I am guessing no?

Hey folks - I know you all have been engaged on the West Virginia spill. See Lek's request for assistance. MK and John - I assume you will have the lead. I'll reply and give him your names. Thanks.

Subject: request from Senator Rockefeller re: study of WV chemical spill health effects

Hi David,

Senator Rockefeller's office has requested verbally and via the attached letter from the Senator, for EPA and CDC to undertake a health study to examine long-term public health risks associated with the spill. Can you please get a read from ORD folks how we would respond to this-if it is not EPA's jurisdiction?, etc.

Thank you!
